Games in analysis: 10 | Position: Point Guard (PG) | Clubs in window: Ironi Lati Kiryat Ata (3 games) ← Maccabi Rehovot (5 games)

Data cross-referenced against the official Basketball Association box score (8 out of 10 games)

Analysis Summary

The club transfer from Maccabi Ironi Kiryat Ata to Maccabi Rehovot was accompanied by a surge in status and minute volume from 7.0 to 21.4 minutes, with efficiency rising from -1.7 to 4.8 in the starting lineup and reaching a peak of 23 PIR against Elitzur Shomron. However, in his bottom quarter of games, he contributed an average of only -4.5—virtually no measurable contribution—compared to a 2.2 window average and 14.0 on his best nights, with minutes ranging between 3 and 29, part of the variance stemming from rotation shifts and role transition.

A 10-game window was selected because below this the average is too noisy (standard error of 3.2 points in 5 games vs. 2.2 in 10), and above it mixes different periods and roles.

To Maintain

- Playmaking and assist-to-turnover ratio: Distributing 3.0 assists against 1.5 turnovers across the window, rising to 4.0 assists against 1.0 turnovers in the last 3 games (73rd percentile in the league in assists), demonstrates solid starting-point-guard decision-making, with the window peak recorded at 7 assists and 0 turnovers against Elitzur Shomron.
- Overall team impact during playing minutes: An average plus-minus of +3.5 over 8 tracked games, jumping to +6.3 in the last 3 games (62nd percentile in the league), indicates that his on-court presence consistently creates a competitive advantage for his team.

To Improve

- Early foul concentration in the first half: 15 of 23 fouls in the window (65%) were committed in Q1 and Q2 (7 in the first quarter and 8 in the second), disrupting personal momentum and leading to early minute restrictions or passive defense due to quick foul trouble.
- Finishing efficiency on drives and 2-point attempts: Shooting 39% (9/23) on 2-pointers over 9 games, resulting from multiple missed pull-up jumpers and blocked drives, takes away approximately 4 to 6 potential points in every game where volume increases.

- Perimeter shooting accuracy relative to attempt volume: 26% (5/19) from beyond the arc across the window leaves the outside threat inconsistent, with games such as against Kiryat Motzkin (1/4 from the field) hurting the team's offensive spacing and making it easier for the defense to pack the paint.

3-Week Plan

1. The biggest lever: 15 first-half fouls (65% of your total fouls) cut short your court time and limit defensive pressure. The action: When defending ball handlers in the first half, keep a half-step cushion, avoid reaching into passing lanes while the player is in motion, and keep both feet set on the ground on screens. The target: Maximum of 1 personal foul before halftime in each of the next three games.
2. 23 2-point attempts in 9 games yielded only 39% (9/23) due to a tendency toward contested pull-up jumpers. The action: Increase drive depth all the way to the rim to draw contact or kick out to open shooters, and completely eliminate mid-range off-the-dribble jumpers early in the offense. The target: Raise 2-point field goal percentage from 39% to at least 48% over the next 15 attempts.
3. Shooting 26% (5/19) from three across the window creates spacing inconsistency. The action: Be selective from beyond the arc, taking shots strictly in spot-up catch-and-shoot situations, and avoid late-clock off-the-dribble threes. The target: Reach 35% or higher from beyond the arc over the next 12 attempts (at least 4 made shots).
