A 10-game window was chosen because below that the average is too noisy (standard error 3.2 points in 5 games vs 2.2 in 10), and above it mixes different periods and roles.

Maintain

- High efficiency at the rim finish and 2-point shots: Maintaining an impressive 75% (12/16) from the field in the window and also in the last 3 games, indicating smart shot selection at the small forward position.
- Leading overall Performance Index Rating (PIR) output: High window average of 25.3 PIR (97th percentile in the league) with an increase to 30.7 PIR in the last 3 games, reflecting high consistency on his good evenings.

Improve

- Volume and variety in outside shooting: Total absence of 3-point shots in the window reduces the perimeter threat of a player at the SF position. Action: Increase the number of open 3-point shots from the corners and arc to at least 2 attempts per game. Target: Achieving at least 33% (2/6) on 3-pointers in the next window.
- High volatility and contribution on off-nights: In a quarter of the weak games, his contribution drops to only 7.0 PIR compared to an average of 25.3, showing disappearance on difficult evenings. Action: On nights when shots aren't falling in the first quarter, focus on creating points through offensive rebounding and frontcourt blocks. Target: Minimum of 12 PIR even on weak nights.
- Involvement in creating plays for others: An average of 1.2 assists per game (46th percentile) indicates a primarily individual game. Action: When the defense doubles you on a penetration, immediately kick the ball out to an open player. Target: Raise the assist average to 2.5 per game.

3-Week Plan

1. The biggest leverage: Expanding the offensive threat range. Practice outside shooting after receiving a pass to add at least 2 3-point attempts per game, aiming to reach at least 33% accuracy and clear driving lanes for yourself.
2. Maintaining stable game involvement. In situations where the offense stalls in the first quarter, avoid disappearing and concentrate on building the game through screens and short passes to raise the floor PIR index above 12 points.
3. Improving decision making in passing under pressure. Practice kick-out passes from drives to the paint to raise the assist contribution to at least 2.0 per game without increasing turnovers.
