A 10-game window was chosen because below that the average is too noisy (standard error of 3.2 points in 5 games vs. 2.2 in 10), and above it, it mixes different periods and roles.

To Preserve

- Extraordinarily high three-point efficiency: You shot 51% (25/49) in the window with a 97 league percentile, including 62% (8/13) in the last 3 games, while maintaining high consistency beyond the arc.
- Offensive contribution at peaks: You contributed an average of 15.7 points and 20.3 PIR in the last 3 games, with a consistent positive plus-minus rating (5.5 on average in the window and 9.0 in the last ones).

To Improve

- Early foul accumulation in crucial quarters: You accumulated 35% of your fouls (12 out of 34) in the 4th quarter, which limited your minutes in crunch time. Action: In individual defense in the final quarter, maintain arm's length distance without hand contact. Target: Finish the game with a maximum of 2 fouls in the second half.
- Turnover concentration in the middle of the game: 33% of your turnovers (5 out of 15) were concentrated in the 3rd quarter, which hurt team momentum. Action: In the first three minutes of the second half, pass the ball simply and release unnecessary dribbles. Target: Lower the average turnovers in the third quarter to less than 0.3 per game.
- High volatility and gambling in weak games: Your floor stands at only 1.5 PIR on weak nights, due to large gaps between peak games and games where you disappear. Action: On nights when shots are not falling at the start of the game, focus on defensive rebounding and short passes. Target: Do not drop below 6 PIR in any game in the next window.

3-Week Plan

1. The biggest leverage: Creating defensive stability and preventing fouls in the 4th quarter. Maintain correct defensive distance and reduce fouls in the closing minutes to stay on the floor throughout crunch time. Target: No more than 1 foul in the 4th quarter in each game.

- 2. Reducing turnovers at the start of the second half. Practice quick decision making and avoiding unnecessary dribbling in the opening minutes of quarter 3. Target: Zero turnovers in the third quarter throughout the upcoming game week.
- 3. Maintaining a high and efficient three-point shot volume. Continue shooting out of structured situations without dropping volume. Target: Maintain at least 40% accuracy from three on a volume of at least 5 shots per game.
